

Braille displays

On the following pages you find an overview of braille displays available in Germany. This overview is divided in stationary and mobile braille displays. Stationary braille displays are suitable for PC standalone devices, while mobile braille displays are intended for the use at the laptop.

The product descriptions are based on manufacturer data (folder material and internet presentations). The individual products are arranged in alphabetical order. We strive for completeness, however, we cannot not guarantee these. We receive additions gladly: info@incobs.de¹.

Here you find the product lists:
